

MAIN DIRECTIONS OF SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH
FOR OBTAINING THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY
IN THE EDUCATIONAL AND SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM
"INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC RELATIONS"

1. World economy, trends and patterns of its development.
2. National economies in the modern world economic system and models of their development.
3. Resources of world economic development and specialization of countries of the world.
4. Evolution of the system of international economic relations.
5. Theories of international trade and their modern modification.
6. Forms and methods of international trade and economic exchange.
7. International trade policy and commercial diplomacy.
8. State, trends and prospects for the development of the world market of goods and services.
9. Motivation and forms of international capital movement.
10. Foreign direct investment and international production.
11. International portfolio investment and the world stock market.
12. International credit relations and their regulation.
13. The world financial market, trends and patterns of development of its structure.
14. Human resources and their international movement.
15. International labor migration, its consequences and regulation.
16. Formation and trends of development of the world labor market.
17. Theories of exchange rates and currency policy.
18. National and international (regional) currency systems.
19. Evolution of the world currency system.
20. World currency market and currency transactions.
21. International settlements and their modern technologies.
22. Theory and practice of international business, its modern forms.

23. Strategies and technologies of international management.
24. Methodology of international marketing, its modern tools.
25. Global problems and challenges of economic development.
26. Formation of global markets and mechanisms of their functioning.
27. Formation of the global economic system.
28. International organizations and global institutionalization.
29. Digitalization of world economic development and digital transformation.
30. Intellectualization of world economic development and international scientific and technological exchange.
31. Social dimensions of global economic development.
32. Manifestations and essence of economic alter- and anti-globalism.